Art Unit: 3682

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoshimoto et al.

Note column 7, lines 3-4 and Figure 6.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshimoto et al. as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Higuchi et al.

Higuchi discloses the use of ceramic material as the main component of a hydrostatic gas bearing. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have as the material of the gas bearing a ceramic material as a main component, because Higuchi discloses the advantage of such a material, i.e., having a low coefficient of linear expansion.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
